Session 116: “Precept” vs “percept”

Summary:
1 Min: Bob is concerned that they have misunderstood the meaning of “precept” vs “percept” in all of the previous sessions and asks about this. Bob suspects that maybe the channel, Marie, is simply mispronouncing the word “percept” as “precept”. What follows is a long, rambling, almost meaningless discussion for a very long hour of these two words, along with “concept”. It is quite evident that the channel (or the Friends) do not even grasp the difference. Apparently Bob was right. He himself concludes, when he speaks at around 50 minutes, that apparently the two words, as being used by the channel, are “interchangeable”. Quite so.
